Pursuant to the terms and conditions of the Grant/Award, this Authorization:

Alaska Works Partnership Inc (AWP) will continue to develop rural Alaska's workforce through on-site intensive construction training for carpentry, plumbing, electrical, and weatherization. AWP will utilize its regional partnerships to coordinate each training session and align participants to employment opportunities. AWP estimates that 100 rural workers will be trained and connected to jobs through the Rural Job Training Project.

More specifically, AWP will train 40 current and new Building Maintenance & Repairer Apprentices (BMR) to be employed by Regional Housing Authorities and other regional employment partners including, but not limited too, Bristol Bay Housing Authority, AVCP Regional Housing Authority, Cook Inlet Housing Authority, Pacific Rim Housing, the North Slope Borough Public Works Department for jobs building, maintaining and renovating affordable housing and community structures within their regions. This is an on-the-job training opportunity where this grant funds the training and employers pay the wages, a leverage of approximately $50,000.00

An additional 60 participants will be trained and aligned jobs with various rural infrastructure projects, including the new Nome Hospital and Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium's village safe water and rural clinic projects.

Additional leverage comes from other regional partners like regional native employment and training entities, Cook Inlet Tribal Association, and the North Slope Borough, along with local Job Centers who have each historically committed cash support for participant travel, housing, meals and ground transportation for a total estimated leverage of $51,000.
